

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to purified polynucleotides and a composition comprising a plurality of polynucleotide probes that are modulated in response to cytokines and which are associated with human immune response, conditions, disorders, and diseases . The present invention presents methods for using the polynucleotides, and use of the polynucleotide probes as hybridizable elements in a microarray.